cabinet & racks

As an IT professional, you're constantly searching for better ways to gain control over your cabinet/rack and cable management systems. Whether it's the tangled mess of unlabeled cables or the cabinets that can't seem to accommodate your new high-density servers, you and your data center could use some help. You need an efficient and cost-effective way to mount and organize a variety of networking gear — all while easily allowing for future upgrades, reconfiguration or relocation of hardware.

Fortunately, CXtec has you covered. With three decades of hands-on experience in the IT marketplace, CXtec has the knowledge and expertise to meet your business' needs. No matter what types of gear you need to install — network hardware, servers, patch panels or power — you can count on our wide range of durable and expandable cabinets and racks to help you get organized while allowing for easy upgrades and configurations. What's more, all of our products come backed by the best customer service and technical support in the industry. ;-)
